Online tools that make it easy to buy from local farmers & build a better food system.

- Back Office in a Box: Smarter tools for people and organizations working to increase local food distribution.
- For Buyers: Simple online ordering from farms you know and trust.
- For Farmers: Access to new markets. More time to focus on production.
- For Everyone: A more equitable, transparent and sustainable food system.

A photograph of the Detroit Eastern Market building at night. The building is made of red brick and features a large sign that reads "EASTERN MARKET". The entrance is a large, arched structure with a wooden truss roof. The interior is lit up, and the street in front is dark with a crosswalk visible.
